KNOW YOUR BOOK

Please be aware that the Library Staff does not know the Required or Recommended Textbooks for all ND and Nutrition Courses this Quarter. And they do not have access to any of the courses on canvas and/or all the course syllabi. So when seeking Library Staff assistance in locating a Textbook, please know the book title and author; providing the course name and instructor can be useful at times. If you are unsure of the textbook you are coming to locate, having the course syllabi open on your electronic device will be most helpful to the staff.

JOURNAL ARTICLES RESEARCH ON iSEARCH

The Sonoran University Library has a 'Google Like' Search Engine, called iSearch, that searches most, not all, of the various Library's online resources, including the Library Catalog, our many E-books, and most notably our various online medical journals databases. To help you locate Journal articles, the following are the most notable Sonoran University Library Journal Indexing Databases that you can search separately, or which iSearch will search for you in one all-encompassing search:

- PubMed (separately Internet Accessible, a free National Library of Medicine service)
A major source of over 26 million citations of the most scholarly and rigorously scientific medical and science journals around North America, and even around the world, dating back to 1948. Most include abstracts, and many may include links to the full text articles; but be aware that some of these links might require you to register and pay a fee, but there are many that will be completely free.
- AMED
AMED (which stands for "Alternative Medicine") includes citations and usually-lengthy abstracts for articles from over 400 biomedical journals, books, conference proceedings, newspapers, etc., with also a select few (20%) now having full-text retrieval capabilities. Covers the scholarly literature of alternative medicine from 1985 to the present. Produced by the British Library (London), its emphasis is European sources. Resources not readily found in PubMed.
- Alt-Health Watch
If you need just a few, quick articles for your research project, Alt-Health Watch will usually suffice. It is widely used by many American libraries. This indexing and retrieval service provides a broad but selective sampling of articles from 180 journals, as well as workshops, conferences, etc., featuring all kinds of alternative therapies. Unlike other services, it usually includes full text retrieval. Some items in this database are consumer-oriented rather than scholarly; but when beginning a search, it is possible to limit it to only scholarly, peer-reviewed journal articles.
- Medline Complete from EBSCO
The largest companion to the MEDLINE index has some cross-over with PubMed, but most notably provides unique full text articles that are usually found in PubMed only as citations and abstracts.
- CINAHL Complete
Research tool for nursing and allied health professionals with fast and easy full-text access to top journals, evidence-based care sheets, quick lessons and more.
- Rehabilitation & Sports Medicine Source
A research tool covering Rehabilitation and Sports Medicine and allied health topics, including sports injury, rehabilitation and more. The database covers a broad range of rehabilitation and sports medicine topics, including orthopedics, physiology, nutrition, sports exercise, physical therapy and more. It incorporates an intuitive research tool, with fast and easy full-text access to top journals, evidence-based care sheets, quick lessons and more.

- Health Business Elite

This database provides comprehensive journal content detailing all aspects of healthcare administration and other non-clinical aspects of healthcare institution management. Updated daily, it is an indispensable resource for both healthcare professionals and researchers. It has more than 600 full-text journals, healthcare company profiles, and a rich collection of images, including photographs, illustrations, charts, diagrams, maps and graphs. Additionally, there are journals representing computer technology, facilities management, hospital administration, and hospital management.

- Business Source Complete

With premium full-text content and peer-reviewed business journals, this database is an essential tool for business students. It covers all disciplines of business, including marketing, management, accounting, banking, finance and more. There are more than 2,000 active full-text journals and magazines, with more than 1,200 active, full-text, peer-reviewed journals, 760 active, full-text, peer-reviewed journals with no embargo, and 830 active full-text journals indexed in Web of Science or Scopus.

You can link out to these resources individually from the main Library page on MySonoran.

iSearch does allow you to delineate your searches by date, scholarly or peer-reviewed, or strictly by Free Full Text articles. In many cases, citations and abstracts may include a PDF link or a direct Link

Out  Linked Full Text to these free full text articles. Or you can submit a  Request this item through interlibrary loan. which creates a form with the citation information pre-filled; just add your name and e-mail. By the way, FYI that iSearch does not appear to work in I.E. (Internet Explorer). The Google Chrome and Mozilla Firefox browsers should be used.
